Local Rustlings.
Laudenslager has a new ad.
This paper acknowledges the receipt of a Fair ticket for the editor and wife.

Judge Harkness has run a water pipe from the town tank to the Cerrillos House.

W. H. Coleman and family have returned from a pleasant fishing trip on the Pecos.

An advertisement appears in this week's issue, of the energetic insurance firm, J. W. Schofield & Co., of Santa Fe.

R. Green went out Saturday and hauled in the boiler belonging to the artesian well outfit. Drilling will soon begin.

The bear are coming down from mountains in the upper Pecos country and it is now said to be a good time for hunting them.

The weather this week has been unusually warm, with one light shower to lay the dust and temporarily cool the atmosphere.

The dining room of the Grand Central has been nicely refitted and papered. The hotel is getting ready to open up in good shape this fall.

The RUSTLER family and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jackson, took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Ames and Mrs. Jackson, Tuesday. The spread was very nice indeed, and enjoyed by all.

Philippe Lopez, a section laborer, fell from a moving train near Wallace last Friday and had a leg cut off by the wheels. He was taken to the hospital, but died on Tuesday of this week.

A fine boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Howell, on Sunday last. Mother and child are doing well, so reports Dr. Palmer, the attending physician. The RUSTLER congratulates, as usual.

The Concord coach, loaded down with passengers for San Pedro, and Wm. Atchison manipulating the ribbons, went out extra Wednesday morning. Eastern capitalists comprised most of the load.

R. S. Grier who has been doing carpenter work for a number of months at Roswell, was badly hurt recently by a windmill falling on him. He had several ribs broken. His family here are expecting him home as soon as he is able to stand the trip.

A leak in the pipe line the first of the week created a scarcity of water.

Later—The supply is on again, it transpiring that instead of a leak some one had been monkeying with the valve, turning the supply off instead of on.

The merchants who advertise and try to push their business, will get there when others are left. An advertisement in a live local newspaper is just as necessary as a sign. It isn't a donation, either. The merchant is benefitted more than the newspaper.

S. H. Arnold, L. D. Sugar, S. Davis, A. L. Kendall, Chas. Sylvester, Dick Mathews, Cerrillos; Chas. L. Thayer, Santa Fe, Wm. McIntosh, Chilli; N. L. Rosenthal & Son, Las Vegas; Daniel Taylor, Dolores, are subscribers to the RUSTLER since last issue.

The school directors are in a quandary, remarks L. G. Jones. As two of the directors himself and Tony Neis desire to employ a young lady just budding into rosy womanhood. The ladies of the district all clamor for the employment of a male teacher, while Harry Kinsell and Brigham Young are willing to compromise on a man as ugly as sin or a woman not less than 100 years old.

All who attended the celebration at Wallace say they had a nice time, a very nice time. There was an immense crowd of the noble red man present, showing his number to still exceed the leaves of the petrified forest. The pale-faces present were fitted out with picnic equipments, enjoying the day sight-seeing and the night till late train at the Wallace ball.

An ex-convict known as "Tex," got to flourishing a gun in a dangerous manner last Friday night and constable Crutchfield was sent for to take care of him. He was lodged in the 'boose, but not liking the quarters he walked out during the night and was recaptured in the Cash Entry cañon. He was tried before Judge Kendall, but the evidence not being conclusive, he was discharged with a lecture.

Rev. J. M. Crutchfield united in wedlock July 29th 1891, at the residence of Mart Winsor, in the Pecos Valley, seven miles above Coopers, Mr. Henry Winsor and Miss Flora Ball. After the ceremony a bountiful repast prepared by Mrs. O. C. Knox was partaken of and heartily enjoyed by all present. The young and happy couple will reside on the ranch of Mr. Winsor, which for years he has been preparing for this occasion.

A. T. Grigg, Santa Fe's wholesale and retail furniture merchant, doubtless carries the largest stock of furniture in all grades, carried by any firm or house in the Territory. The RUSTLER man was shown through the various departments this week and was quite surprised at its magnitude. Aside from the display departments, large rooms are packed with consignments, that if set up, would fill the plaza. The styles are all the latest, workmanship the best and prices the most reasonable.

A fair number responded to the call for a literary organization by assembling at Mrs. Nesbitt's residence last Saturday night. A temporary organization was effected by calling W. B. Tipton to the chair and Carlos Probst to the secretary's table. In the order of proceedings a committee was appointed to draft by-laws, comprised of Messrs. W. A. Griswold, Jas. Brady and Mrs. A. M. Anderson. Fourteen persons volunteered membership on completion of organization. Adjourned to meet at same place Thursday evening Aug. 6th 1891.

Last night the organization was completed by electing W. A. Griswold president, Mrs. Nesbitt vice president, Carlos Probst secretary and W. B. Tipton treasurer. The next meeting will be at the school house, Thursday evening, August 13th, 1891. Mrs. Nesbitt, Mrs. Anderson and W. B. Tipton were appointed a committee to arrange programme.

On Monday of this week, John Doyle was bound over in justice Kendall's court on a charge made by Mrs. C. Doyle, of shooting at her through a back window of her store. Although the evidence was somewhat conflicting, the fact that a shot was fired once before into Mrs. Doyle's house since their separation on account of unpleasant domestic relations, probably bore some weight in the decision of the present case. Doyle gave the required $1,000 bond for his appearance at court, Messrs. R. Green, Chas. F. Easley and R. Mathews becoming sureties. As to the real merits of the case, we know nothing. The charges are of a serious nature however, and in the interest of either party should be investigated. Mr. Doyle should and no doubt will, take as great an interest as anyone in proving his own innocence. On the other hand, if some one is trying to shoot Mrs. Doyle, as appears from her evidence, it would be a good idea for her to get a double-barrelled cannon and after loading it with a sack or two of duck shot, point it at the shadow of the assassin when he is doing the shooting act and touch it off, thus putting the object in a condition for sure identification.

The Commercial club of Albuquerque has called a railroad meeting to be held in that city on the 15th of September, for the purpose of urging the extension of the D. & R. G., through Santa Fe, Cerrillos, San Pedro and to Albuquerque. Delegates to this meeting will be selected from each of these places. The movement is a good one whether it accomplishes much or little. If the D. & R. G., can be interested in such an extension there may be some hope. So far as the Santa Fe Southern is concerned, there appears none. The writer broached this subject to Gen. Melley at Santa Fe Monday by asking abruptly when the road would be running into the south county camps. The General appeared surprised that such an idea should be entertained and said flatly that the road would never run there. There was no inducement he said. When asked why they had gone to the trouble and expense of making a survey, he said then they expected something from the Atlantic & Pacific—after the Santa Fe company gained control of that line, there was nothing left to induce them to extend. Further he said: "The A. T. & S. F. road are able to build a line to San Pedro cheaper than would be any other company, and would doubtless do so if they thought there would business enough result to justify." Whatever may have brought about these conclusions, the General did not explain what the possible mission of his road extending from Espinola to Santa Fe, a distance of little more than 25 miles, could possibly be, lying through a country that produces nothing. In the southern portions of Santa Fe county and the eastern part of Bernalillo, there are not hundreds, not thousands, but millions of tons of ores awaiting treatment at a profit with easy transportation and close smelters. A railroad to and through these mountains would mean great reduction works at both Albuquerque and Cerrillos; would develop and operate hundreds of mines, and would bring into market our coals for fuel and iron for fluxing. It is nonsense to say that the road would not pay. It would be a bonanza, both to the company and the people.

Best Family Flour at Ames & Gould's. Try a sack of it and be convinced.

The wheat raised along the Rio Grande valley has been garnered—by that we can mean cut—and hauled into piles around which poles are stood on end, ropes passed around the circle on which blankets are hung, and into which enclosure formed a lot of ponies, sheep or goats are driven who tramp out the grain. After the straw has been tramped into chaff by the hoofs of the animals, the light stuff is thrown into the air with forked sticks used as pitchforks, leaving the ripe grain and still riper goat manure underneath. We are not positive how the last two products are separated, but it has been proven that the fruit of the goat is all separated from the wheat with the exception of just sufficient to give the bread that rich brunette complexion so often observed in the native article. This is one thing which makes the wheat crop of the Rio Grande—while less in bushels, so far exceed in flavor—that of the Red River Valleys of Minnesota and the Dakotas.

An 1891 catalogue of the New Mexico College of Agriculture is received.

Personal Rustlings.
Maj. A. H. Purdy is in Denver. Edward Baker was a visitor to Santa Fe Wednesday.

Mr. Wm. Kemp left San Pedro Tuesday for Kingston.

S. A. Larock spent a day or two in Santa Fe this week.

W. P. Gould made a business trip to Las Vegas Tuesday.

J. R. Maddux has postponed his visit to Iowa until later in the season.

Hosmer, the Banner-Beacon man, was down from Springer Monday.

The Crutchfield families returned from their outing on the Pecos Friday of last week.

Miss Louise Legace, of Miltonvale, Kansas, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jas. Miller, of Cerrillos.

Mr. Ford and family and the Misses Rogers are camping and fishing on the Pecos this week.

Ethel Anderson, the RUSTLER editor's youngest daughter, goes to San Pedro the 15th, to visit friends.

Hon. S. D. Baldwin and Col. R. W. Webb, of Santa Fe, have been taking in Albuquerque this week.

Geo. Campbell and family left San Pedro the first of this week to go to Kingston, their future home.

R. Y. Anderson returned this morning from a trip to Magdalena, of which camp he speaks very highly.

Mr. Charles Haspelmath, the jolly merchant of Lamy and Bernalillo, had business in Santa Fe, Monday.

Mr. John R. Maddux and Mrs. La Fountain drove to Santa Fe Monday. Mrs. La Fountain returned to Iowa on Wednesday.

Mrs. Board leaves today on her return to Albuquerque, but will visit until the first of the week, Mrs. F. H. Mitchell, of Wallace.

Mrs. A. E. Laudenslager has been critically ill at the home of her parents, La Fayette, Ind. Her condition was improving at last report.

Miner Brown, one of the owners of the Mingo, among the most promising of San Pedro prospects, visited Cerrillos and Santa Fe, Monday.

Manager R. Y. Anderson was in from the Lincoln-Lecky Monday. He reports the new shaft down 100 feet and all work going along in a highly satisfactory manner.

Mr. Wm. McIntosh, the extensive ranchman and sheep raiser of Chilli, visited Santa Fe Monday. Mr. McIntosh is credited with having the finest sheep herd in New Mexico.

San Pedro Rustlings.
Mr. Conger, who had a fall from his house and was quite badly hurt, is improving.

W. E. Ratliff has been under the weather for a few days, but is again around and at work.

Mrs. S. C. White is reported as improving the past few days, but not yet able to talk or use her right side.

Wm. Gunn who had a leg broken at the Lincoln-Lucky some 10 days ago, is getting better, but is still kept in his bed.

Jas. Barton Jr., has been helping in the general Merchandise store of R. Giblin, during the usual first-of-the-month-rush.

A car load of the famous "Gold Coin" flour, just received this morning by Ames & Gould, for the San Pedro and Cerrillos trade.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Evans left Thursday morning to recuperate their health at the Springs, both being somewhat indisposed.

Messrs. Ward and Stover, two Milwaukee capitalists interested in the St. Lazarus mine at San Pedro with Mr. Conger, are putting in a few days at the mill.

The big smelter was shut down on Monday, on account of the bottom of one of the furnaces having been burned out while treating roasted copper matte. It will start up at noon to-day, (Friday) to run the balance of the month.

Quite a number of our citizens took in the "squaw jig" at Santa Domingo on Tuesday, and some of the party stayed at Wallace and took in the dance at the hotel. All say they had a good time, but it was very hot at the Pueblo.

Misses Cecelia and Mamie McCarthy and Miss Mabel Blunt, all of Santa Fe, who have been visiting their old friend and school mate, Miss Frank Horey, left on Thursday noon for Cerrillos, where they will visit for a day with Mrs. Mira Harkness before returning to their home. On last Saturday evening the young gentlemen of San Pedro gave a ball in their honor, and all together they have circulated sufficiently around our city to gain many friends and admirers. All hope to see them back again in the near future.

The Great Light shows given here on Monday and Wednesday nights were of interest and possess real merit. The attendance though fair, was not nearly such as the entertainment will warrant. The management is courteous and gentlemanly in every respect, and deserve the best of treatment at the hands of the public. As the management is detained here to await the arrival of new materials, another entertainment may be given on Saturday evening, but that has not been as yet determined. The press in general speaks very flatteringly of the Great Light, and people of intelligence everywhere acknowledge it an interesting treat.

Capt. J. R. Hudson, the well known jeweler of Santa Fe, having now nicely established himself on the east side of the plaza, two doors north of the Exchange Hotel, invites all old acquaintances of the southern camps to give him a call. He will sell goods as cheap as the cheapest or do their repairing in the most satisfactory manner. His advertisement can be found in this paper.

Listen to this Tail of Woe.
A merchant bent on economizing, decided to cut off his advertising—"It costs me ten thousand a year," he said, "and I'll come out just so much ahead." His "ad" appeared in the papers no more, his customers went to an "advertised" store; his business unheard of ran steadily down, and now there is one merchant less in the town.
